Candidates for Orleans Parish district attorney will meet with the Metropolitan Crime Commission's board of directors and members Thursday at noon in the Church House, 330 St. Charles, to discuss and answer questions on crime in New Orleans.

The candidates were invited by the MCC executive committee. Harry B. Connick, Ross Scaccia, Charles Ward and Jim Garrison have made commitments to appear, said Aaron M. Kohn, managing director of the MCC.

The press has been invited to the meeting and will participate in an open discussion between the MCC and the candidates, Kohn said. The meeting is closed to the general public.
